

Abishan Arulselvan

+1 647-562-3968 | abiarul1016@gmail.com | linkedin.com/in/abishan-arulselvan | github.com/abiarul1016-glitch

"Don't wish on someone else's failure, work towards your own success."

Early Investor Program Recruitment Team

CPP Investments
Remote / Toronto Office
Waterloo, ON

June 24, 2026

Subject: Job Application for Intern, Early Investor Program (Summer 2027)

Dear Early Investor Program Recruitment Team,

I am writing to express my enthusiastic application for the Intern, Early Investor Program (Summer 2027) at CPP Investments. As a current Mathematics and Finance student at the University of Waterloo with specialized training in computational finance, I am drawn to your mission of delivering strong, sustainable returns through disciplined investment philosophy and global market reach.

My background is defined by self-directed learning, resilience, and the ability to manage complex operational workflows independently. Whether building personal brands from scratch or leading a team at the JA Company Program to successfully sell products in downtown Toronto, I have consistently demonstrated grit and a performance-driven mindset. These experiences honed my ability to negotiate, strategize, and execute under pressure, qualities that align directly with your emphasis on partnership and tangible impact.

Technically, I thrive on solving real-world problems through automation and data analysis. In my recent development of a local-first automation pipeline using Python and large language models, I engineered solutions that dynamically generate content and validate data structures without relying on external cloud infrastructure. Similarly, while building an asynchronous financial research agent, I applied statistical reasoning to extract insights and automate outreach, directly mirroring the due diligence and valuation analysis required for your investment teams. I am eager to bring this same analytical rigor and collaborative spirit to support your goal of building enduring partnerships worldwide.

Respectfully,

Abishan Arulselvan

Enclosure: Curriculum Vitae